

Messages from our Awards Partners

“We appreciate all the work group travel organisers continue to do to put group activity on the map, and our ongoing support for these awards offers us the chance to engage and network with the key players in the sector.”

Alan Rennie,
Ambassador Cruise Line

“We’ve valued our ongoing partnership with Group Leisure & Travel for many years now. Being part of the awards is a fantastic way to show our continued support for group travel. Whether it’s catching up with existing groups or meeting new ones who are yet to discover HF Holidays, we really appreciate the networking opportunities the awards provide.”

Kia Lewis, HF Holidays

“We support the Group Leisure & Travel Awards because it’s now the only long-standing event that awards GTOs alongside suppliers who work together to deliver quality memories for the members and customers alike.”

Graham Hopcraft,
DFDS

“I think it’s so important to support this initiative to recognise so many companies and individuals within the leisure and travel industry who create countless memories and experiences for groups across the country. It’s a pleasure for us to make sure the success of the awards continues to incentivise all those involved.”

Rupert Viney,
Legoland® Windsor Resort

“Potters Resorts values and respects Group Leisure & Travel as a leading brand within the group market and we believe our product matches the ethos of both companies. We both believe in offering quality products to group travellers and value the great work and commitment made by so many group organisers throughout the year. The process of participating in the awards initiative allows us to receive valuable feedback from customers and industry experts.”

Sallyanne Gooch, Potters Resorts

LeShuttle realises the importance of group travel in the coach industry. It brings together the best of the best, all with a common goal, supporting group travel. Recognising the best providers, attractions and destinations, as chosen by the readers, is fundamental in giving the industry the appreciation it deserves.

Tracy Bayliss,
LeShuttle

“It’s important for us to support the Group Leisure & Travel Awards as they represent groups across the UK. It’s great that the awards are voted by the readers of Group Leisure & Travel magazine.”

Ben Delahunty-Jones,
Group Line

“This is our opportunity to give back to the industry that supports us every year. GLT has been a market leader for over 25 years, they are a voice in the industry you can trust. Here at The Royal Mint, home of the original maker, rewarding excellence is something we pride ourselves on. And supporting an industry leading organisation with their awards initiative seems an ideal fit for us.”

Paul Brandwood, The Royal Mint

“Relationships mean so much in this industry and it’s a great opportunity to connect at an event like the Group Leisure & Travel Awards to celebrate achievements and partnerships with clients.”

Josh Behn,
Disney Tickets

“The Group Leisure & Travel Awards give Daish’s Holidays the chance to join with our industry partners in recognising the tremendous effort and achievements within the industry during the last 12 months. They give us all the opportunity to acknowledge everyone in our sector and especially those shortlisted for the various awards.”

Martin Jenkins, Daish’s Holidays

“By actively participating in these awards, Ascot gains valuable industry connections. Moreover, the awards, based on votes from group travel organisers and readers of Group Leisure & Travel magazine and website, serve as a testament to Ascot’s commitment to customer satisfaction and trust-building. This enduring support highlights Ascot’s long-term vision and its role as a consistent industry leader, ultimately contributing to its continued success as the go-to choice for group travel experiences.”

Rob Paddon, Ascot

“At the Brend Collection, we have recently rebranded to encompass our collection of hotels, restaurants and spas - highlighting that we are not only a hotel group. With this in mind, we were excited to sponsor the Best Group Dining Experience category this year, as it’s a sector that is engrained into our hearts both in our hotels and within our restaurants.”

Amy Sowden, Brend Collection

“Last year, CroisiEurope was honoured to win Best Cruise Line, as voted for by GLT readers. We feel it is only natural to support this initiative as these awards are designed to showcase the best in class for groups and GTOs.”

Gabrielle Alam, CroisiEurope

“As the UK’s number one publication for GTOs, GLT has a wide-reaching and varied audience and Warner Hotels is honoured to have the unique opportunity to showcase our portfolio of adult-only destinations to all of them. The publications enable us to gain exposure with people who may not have considered us for this kind of travel previously.”

Martyn Stagg, Warner Hotels

“It’s important for Dunwood to support the initiative simply because these awards are the most prestigious and recognised accolade to achieve in our industry.”

Colin Duncan,
Dunwood

“The Awards are important to us as an association because they celebrate group travel and the travel trade as well as the GTOs. It’s a great chance for us to come together with friends in the industry and make new contacts.”

Sylvia Saxon,
The New Meridian

“This prestigious event allows us the opportunity to network with other colleagues in the group travel industry, and to invite our GTOs to enjoy the awards event with us, to recognise and thank them for entrusting us with their group’s bookings.”

Ellie Fulcher,
Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines

“The GLT Awards highlight all that is brilliant in this key UK tourism market. At P&O Ferries we’re constantly working on our proposition to ensure that our ferry crossings enhance the journeys of our group passengers to create unforgettable experiences.”

Charles Bailey, P&O Ferries
